

A new £45m science research building for the University of Oxford secured via a successful limited design competition in a collaboration between Nightingale Associates and make architects.

Old Road Campus Research Building, Oxford University of Oxford

Completed August 2007